1858.

The Taibun's course on the great questions of the day is guided by principles which will stand the test of ages. It wars upon Slavery, "not in the abstract merely, but in the United States, "regardless of the fact that the slaves are a powerless easte and belong to a loathed and down-trodden race, because it realizes that unjust, oppressive laws are a curse, not merely to their immediate victims, but to the whole community which endures and upholds them. In the same spirit, it opposes Fillibusterism and every form of National Tayacity or aggression, profoundly convinced that "Rightnors-Ness exaltests a nation," and that territory won by compuest or spoliation never did and never can truly strengthen the nation thus aggrandised. Regarding Freedom in Labor as the only safe, beneficient basis of National growth and prosperity, it contends for that Freedom not only in Kansas but contends for that Freedom not only in Kansas but on every acre of the Federal Territories, seeking no favor from and granting none to any party, interest, doctrine or tribunal that would render them the nursery and home of bondage. The varied development and diversification of Home Industry, the repression of Intemperance, Violence and Crime, the improvement, by every practicable means, of the condition of the needy and unfortunate, are among the objects to which its efforts are steadfastly, directed. In short, without assuming to be wiser or better than others, we aim to be found always the foes of Wrong, Abuse and Evil, and the champions of Truth, Virtue and Reform.

We hire nobody to obtain subscribers for us, employ no traveling agents, offer no premiums or prizes, but a simple copy of our paper to any one who, because he approves its general character and believes its circulation will exert a salutary influence, procures and sends us a list of twenty or more subscribers.
